FUNSTON AS STRIKE BREAKER

Used Rifle as Persuader to Induce Indian Packers to Proceed on Journey.

In 1903 Frederick Funston set out for Alaska on a commission to collect botanical specimens. Today the trail over Chilkoot pass is familiar, but at that time it was known only to Indian guides and a few daring miners who had followed its devious ways. Funston with two companions went up the pass and over to the Yukon, says the Youth's Companion. One incident of the trip he describes in his own picturesque language as follows:

"The Indians carried the loads while we dragged the empty sleds. The snow fell incessantly for five days, and it lay along our route from 5 to 50 feet deep. Day after day we wallowed and struggled on as we worked our way gradually upward to the summit of the range. One cheerful little diversion occurred on the second day. The low browed chief packer who seemed to have charge of the other Indians threw his load into the snow and announced that unless their pay was materially increased he and the other packers would get themselves back to the village and thus leave us in a pretty pickle.

"My temper had been at white heat all day, and without thinking what might be the consequence of such a move, I shot the muzzle of a cocked rifle into the face of the advisory committee of that strike, and the way the American and leader of Chilkoot Salmon Indians resounded his sack of beans and threw them through the broad expanse of the beautiful snow shows that it is sometimes a good thing for every well-regulated family to have a gun in the house."

BIG PHILIPPINE SUGAR CROP

Modern Machinery, Supplanting Hand Labor, Results in Planting of Immense Acreage.

The Philippines are like most of the sugar cane growing regions in that the available labor supply is comparatively limited. To overcome this, the tractor and modern power machinery is being introduced. As this does not pay on the small plantations, the custom is for one organization to operate several hundred or thousand acres, and a well-organized system is involved throughout the year. Labor-saving devices are employed wherever possible.

The first process in harvesting sugar cane is stripping the leaves from the stalks, an operation requiring much time and labor, as this must be done by hand. A cane knife or bolo is used by the native laborer, who passes the knife down each side of the cane, knocking off and throwing them into the middle of the row, where other laborers pick them up and lead them to be baled to the mill.

Sugar cane milling under modern methods may be divided into four essential processes, namely, the extraction of the juice from the cane, the clarification of the juice by boiling, the evaporation of the juice so as to reduce the sugar to the crystalline form, and the firing of the sugar from impurities. The most modern machinery for all operations is fast being installed in the Philippines islands, and American consumers may look for a more abundant supply of their sugar from these distant dots on the Pacific which owe their development to American capital and American enterprise.

TRY TO PREVENT DISEASE.

A Thorough Physical Test May Point the Way to Saving a Life.

"Careful investigation," says a health bulletin, has shown that the physically perfect man is almost impossible to find. Almost every one who has reached the age of thirty has some impairment or defect of his body. It may be such a minor defect as a decayed tooth or a slight digestive disturbance. Or it may be trouble with the kidneys that will develop into Bright's disease if not attended to promptly. Little defects or impairments, if neglected, may cause untold suffering and loss.

"If you have a regular family physician arrange with him for a thorough overhauling of your body. This inspection, which should be conducted without clothing, should consist at least of the following:

"Height, weight, chest and abdominal measurements and a survey of the general bodily condition. Examination of eyes, ears, nose, throat, mouth, teeth, tongue, skin, glands, lungs, heart, circulation, stomach, liver and other abdominal organs. Examination for evidences of rupture, varicose veins, faulty posture, flat foot, spinal curvature, deformities and asymmetries. Tests of the vision and hearing. Tests of the brain and nervous system for paresis, locomotor ataxia and other central nervous affections or nervous instability. Chemical and microscopic examination of the urine. Blood pressure tests.

"Such a thorough examination as is suggested here may be the means of prolonging, if not of saving, life."

THE CAREFUL ELEPHANT.

His Bump of Caution Seems to Be Remarkably Well Developed.

The author of "From Jungle to Zoo," in explaining the difficulties of transporting wild animals by rail, gives a striking example of the elephant's cautiousness:

"The keepers generally place a heavy platform from the door of the truck to the ground, but few elephants will venture on it. In one case the men sent in a trained elephant first in the hope that the newly captured elephant would follow. The new elephant stopped dead, however, threw up his trunk and made it evident that he would go no farther.

"They offered him all kinds of food and addressed him with encouraging words; they led the trained elephant out and then in again with a rush, in the hope that the other would follow in the excitement of the moment. But it all had no effect whatever; there the bumpy old fellow stood, waving his trunk and glancing from left to right and then from right to left with his little crafty eyes.

"At length after two hours of hard work, when the men were exhausted and streaming with perspiration, the elephant suddenly lowered his trunk, seized the inclined platform and threw it away. Then, lifting up first one huge foot and then another, he walked quietly into the truck and settled down at once to a good meal."

Please For the Growers.

"The growers" says a Georgia ph. leopht, are the boys that keep the world moving. For when folks are growing all a time the world stops to ask the reason and straightway find a remedy for the trouble. If the world paid any attention to the old things would be a standstill. Taking it for granted that everything's O. K. is the end of progress."—Atlanta Constitution.

CAN CHINA BE INDEPENDENT?

Entrance Into Great World War Is Viewed From Different Angles by Editors.

Much division of opinion exists in Japan regarding China's declaration of war against Germany, says the East and West News. Japan took the final step for two reasons: First, the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and, second, a deep-founded belief in the necessity for solidarity of the far eastern powers. The Osaka Asahi is strongly opposed to China's participation in the world's war. It says: "China decided to take the step, on the arrival of Vice-President Feng Kuo-chang at Peking. Nothing could be more regrettable than for an independent nation to be forced by others to do anything it doesn't want to do. The national existence of any nation that yields to coercion or undue persuasion is imperiled! Some people regarded Japan's declaration of war against Germany merely from the viewpoint of the alliance with England, but we favor Japan's dominance in this part of the Pacific."

The editor of the Asahi wants to know what Feng Kuo-chang meant when he declared a declaration of war by China against Germany, but objected to any step to joining the entente powers. Does he mean that, like the United States, China's declaration of war shall be a separate act? asks the Asahi. "The grave fact is that her present course was forced upon her. Whether she joins the entente or not matters little for the present. The serious question is, can China be independent from now onward?"

"GESUNDHEIT" — THEN WOE

Citizen of German Origin, Patriotic to Last Ditch, Makes a Disastrous Blunder.

This little story, which appears to be an orphan, is now going around:

"I'm going to the patriotic meeting this evening," said the citizen of German origin.

"No," said the wife, "you mustn't go. You'll get into trouble, sure."

But he went, despite her remonstrance. Just before midnight, on the last street car, he stumbled into his domicile. The good wife was sitting up for him.

When he appeared his eyes were black and blue, his face was scratched and puffed, his collar had been torn from his shirt and he looked as though he had been rolled in the dirt.

"Ah," said the wife, "I told you not to go to that meeting; that something would happen to you."

"It was not at the meeting," explained the husband. "The meeting was all right. There were three speeches, and, like everybody else, I applauded everyone of them. The band played the 'Star-Spangled Banner.' Everybody stood up. So did I. "It was after the meeting, I was coming home on the street car. The car was crowded. Then a woman on the car sneezed and I said 'Gesundheit!' Then everything happened."

Five Great Men in History.

In the generation that saw the birth and the earlier years of the republic five men stand out—George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton and John Marshall, says James Bryce in the Youth's Companion. Whether or not the last four of them were great men in the full sense of the word is a question on which people were not agreed in the lifetime of those four and are not agreed today; but everyone felt then as everyone feels now that Washington was great. He is a world figure. In mere intellectual power he was not superior to the other four. He had less originality and a less wide range of capacity than Franklin, less versatility of mind than Jefferson, less brilliant gifts for constructive policy and the exposition thereof than Hamilton, less logical grasp and penetration of thought than Marshall; but he rose superior to them all in a certain massive strength of character, in stately dignity, in a calm firmness of purpose that neither the smiles nor the frowns of fortune could divert from the course his judgment had approved. So his primacy was undisputed then and has remained undisputed ever since.

WHAT GETTYSBURG WANTS TO KNOW

The Answer Is Found in the Statement of a Gettysburg Resident.

From week to week, from year to year, there have been appearing in these columns statements made by neighbors, which we have all read with great interest, and many of us with great profit. But what we want to know is, do they stand the greatest test of all—the test of time? Here is conclusive evidence on this point from a Gettysburg man.

D. E. Arendt, Railroad St., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for some years. I had sharp pains across the small of my back and in my sides and had to get up often during the night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they quickly cured me." (Statement given in July 1916.)

AFTER PASSING YEARS.

On February 12, 1916, Mr. Arendt said: "I never let a chance slip to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. I can now say that the cure they gave me has remained permanent. I know of no better kidney medicine."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Arendt has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McBee Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Use Foods of Which There is Surplus

President Wilson issued the following statement this week on food supplies.

"The chief part of the burden of finding food supplies for the people's associated with us in war falls for the present upon the American people, and the drain upon supplies on such a scale necessarily affects the prices of our necessities of life.

"Our country, however, is blessed with an abundance of foodstuffs, and if our people will economize in their use of food providently confining themselves to the quantities required for the maintenance of health and strength; if they will eliminate waste; and if they will make use of these commodities of which we have a surplus and thus free for export a larger proportion of those required by the world now dependent upon us, we shall not only be able to accomplish our obligations to them, but we shall obtain and establish reasonable prices at home. To provide an adequate supply of food both for our own soldiers on the other side of the seas and for the civil populations and the armies of the allies is one of our first and foremost obligations; for if we are to maintain their constancy in this struggle for the independence of all nations we must first maintain their health and strength. The solution of our food problems, therefore, is dependent upon the individual service of every man, woman and child in the United States. The great voluntary effort in this direction was substantially initiated and organized by the food administration under my direction offers an opportunity of service in the war which is open to every individual, and by which every individual may serve both his own people and the peoples of the world.

"We cannot accomplish our objects in this great war without sacrifice and devotion, and in no direction that sacrifice and devotion be shown more than by each home and public eating place by the country pledging its support to the food administration and complying with its requests."

ELECTION DAY.

Next Tuesday is election day and one of the most important in a democracy, because local officers, those who administer the real home government, those who direct our schools, build and repair our roads, spend the road, school and borough taxes in the necessary duties of municipalities are to be chosen. That man is a poor citizen who is only interested in his State or Nation and not in his own home district and county. Next Tuesday is the day for every Democrat to get out and vote for the interest of his own home people.

PARTISANSHIP EXTREMES.

The neutrally owned "Star and Sentinel" is playing Republican politics in its columns. In last week's issue there is a confession that the writer is an expert on beer, blends of whiskey, vintages of wine, and artist in the concoction of fancy mixed drinks, and no wonder he sees things and talks about partisanship being carried to extremes. The heat of his politics seems to be in his inwards.

The attack on P. P. Eisenhart, Democratic candidate for Director of the Poor, in the Republican organ owned by an alleged neutral, and the "Littlestown Independent," owned by a Republican, are partisanship shams and bluffs, the indulgence in mudslinging propensities is to throw dust in the eyes of the voter for partisan political purposes. The purpose is to elect a Republican Director of the Poor, not so much to defeat Eisenhart as to win a second Republican Director, then with two Republicans on the board, the official ins could be put out and Republican outs could be put in. Don't be deceived, the only issue is partisan. When the appeal is partisan, Democrats know the only way for them to vote is for the Democratic ticket.

EISENHART ATTACKED.

The attack by the alleged neutral "Times" owner of the "Star and Sentinel" and the "Independent," owned by a Republican, upon Peter P. Eisenhart, do not allege one single act of Mr. Eisenhart's that has to do with the duties of the office of Director of the Poor. He is running for a second term and is doing exactly what the Republican director, M. A. L. Trostle, did and succeeded in doing, and if it is right and proper for a Republican to hold the office a second term, it is proper and right for a Democrat. Then some criticism was indulged in over the fact that a rubber stamp is used to sign orders. Rubber stamps are also used by Mr. Trostle and Mr. Rife, the other members of the Board, and have been used for years by directors without regard to the party they belonged to or ability to write. It is done to save time for other things. The rubber stamp impressions are made when directors are in session, after orders have been acted upon, and the act is simply a clerical one of recording what had previously been acted.

Not a word has been said, or can be said, as to the conduct of Mr. Eisenhart in the discharge of the duties of his office as Director of the Poor. Not a word of complaint has ever been made against him by inmate, official or taxpayer. Mr. Eisenhart has given strict attention to his duties, faithfully and honestly serving the county in the management of the County Home. He is known and respected as a highly efficient and capable director and not a single act of his can be pointed out to his discredit. He has done his work well and the county will be the gainer to get another term of his efficient services. Republican partisanship hoots at him for the sole purpose of putting a Republican in office and capture the Almshouse administration.

Valuable Apple Farms.

The value of an apple orchard farm was recently demonstrated in the sale of the land of Harry Bream, of Cashtown. If the farm would have gone to a stranger it is likely it would have been made to go higher. The 85 acre farm with apple orchard of 18 acres bearing, brought $17,500, being sold to Clarence A. Bream. The nine acre orchard in thriving condition on road from Cashtown to Hilltown, from which not a commercial crop has yet been taken and with no other improvement but apple trees, brought $500 an acre or $4,500, going to John Bream. The home and store property were bought by Robert Bream.

Along the road from Cashtown to Hilltown there is an apple orchard of nine acres without other improvements. The orchard has not born a crop yet, being young, but is in a thriving condition. It was bought by John Bream at $200 an acre, or $1,800 for the nine acres.

The home property was bought by Robert Bream for $1,150. The store property went to same heir at $1,000, and store house at $1,500.

The farms of the J. U. Neely estate near Fairfield went to heirs at public sale. The Gelbach farm was sold to R. C. Neely, living on it, for $6,000. The farm known as the Hinkle place was sold to Donald Neely living on farm, for $1,500. Four acres in Fairfield brought $200 an acre, R. C. Neely being the purchaser. The mountain land brought $25 an acre.

Colored Boys Go to Camp Meade.

On Monday seven colored boys, drafted for the National Army, left for Camp Meade. Their many friends were at the station to see them off. Each had a box filled with a good lunch prepared by committees from Asbury and Zion Churches.

Walter Daniels headed the party and others were Reuben Lyles, Geo. S. Carter, Freeman Stanton, John S. Williams, Joseph A. Williams, and Adrian Crampton.

BUMPER BEAN CROP ASSURED

Experts Agree That Final Figures May Show 25,000,000 Bushels, and Lower Prices Are in Sight.

There is electric reassurance in the news that this year's crop of beans will be much more than double the average yield, says the Indianapolis News. As a rule the country produces 10,000,000 bushels a year. In 1916, however, when the demand was greater than ever before, the crop was only 9,000,000 bushels. The shortage was immediately reflected in the soaring prices, and the lowly bean, as a consequence, came in a new prominence. Scarcity served as nothing else to bring about a realization of its value and an appreciation of the place it occupies on the American menu.

This year, experts agree, the final figures may show a crop of 25,000,000 bushels. The consumer this winter should find beans restored to their normal prices.

"Navy" beans they are called by some, by others they are known as "army" beans. The New Englander calls them merely beans. The reference to them, however, as "navy" or "army" beans is not without significance. Time was when the bean was a staple in the rations of both the navy and the army. It appeared frequently, morning, noon and night; it was served boiled and baked and in soup. The Civil war, it has been said, was fought on beans. The ration of the United States soldier and sailor is more varied today, but the bean is not lacking. It is there as of yore, better understood and no less strengthening or palatable.

How many thousands of bushels of this year's enormous bean crop the army and navy of this country and the armies and navies of our allies will consume it would be difficult to say. But the experts are of the opinion that the crop is by no means greater than the demands that will be made upon it. Even so, there should be no shortage and no exorbitant prices. Bean eaters everywhere will appreciate Mr. Hoover's careful consideration of the product, to the end that prices approximating the ante-bellum charges may be restored.
